Our Glad Special

PRIMULINUS HYBRIDS or ART GLADIOLUS

For daintiness and quality there is nothing that can equal them. A large percentage are the large flowering, tall growing primulinus or GRANDIFLORA type. You can make no mistake in planting these freely as they bloom about two weeks earlier than the larger type planted at the same time. Fine for table decorations, or practically any type of floral work. Very free and easy blooming. The colors run to the lighter shades.

THE MOST FREE BLOOMING TYPE OF GLADIOLUS IN EXISTENCE.

1000 No. 3, 1000 No. 4, 1000 No. 5 and 2000 No. 6 a total of 5000 bulbs $20.00

DAHLIAS

This year I am offering dahlias to the trade in collections, instead of under name with the exception of 4 popular sorts, as the majority of florists merely desire a few hills of each variety so as to be able to go out and cut assorted bouquets at any time from July to October. Stock to use in an emergency for funeral work or to make a large but inexpensive decoration. DO YOU NEED DAHLIAS FOR ANY SUCH PURPOSE? IF SO, BUY ONE OF THE COLLECTIONS LISTED BELOW.

GENERAL NOTES

Occasionally we hear of a failure in the flowering results in Gladiolus. There must be a reason, and more often it is on account of shallow planting on outside stock. Have your rows at least 2 feet apart to allow the sunlight to penetrate. Select a good piece of land, not a gravel heap or a small marsh. Plant your bulbs 5 to 6 inches deep, throwing back about three inches of soil. As soon as they break through the ground, give them a top dressing of sheep manure and then about two or three inches more soil. deep planting with proper fertilization will give you stronger spikes, straight stems and sufficient moisture. Try Cogger's way this year as an experiment, as your success in producing good blooms, means recommendation for our bulbs, where failure, many times, means a dissatisfied customer.

Yours for better Glads,

THOMAS COGGER
